Peculiar Document Is to be Used to Show That Thaw Was Insane at the Time it Was Written.

New York, Feb. 13 .- 'I never wanted to shoot the creature: never wanted to kill him. I knew he the killing of White. was a foul creature, destroying the mothers and daughters of america, but I wanted through legal means to bring him to trial. I wanted to bring him to trial. I wanted to get him into court; to bring him to justics. But Providence took charge of it, it was an act of Providence."

This is Harry K. Thaw's own story of the killing of State tord White. It was told by him to Dr. Britton D. Evans, the allenist, last August in the Tombs. Yesterday Dr. Evans repeated the prisoner's words to the jury which is trying That for his life.

District Attorney Jerome fought hard last week against the latroduction of this evidence which the detense believes is conclusive proof that Thaw did not know his act was Beiser as an officer of the Federal Court was summoned to appear before the Allen County Grand Jury in use for five years previous to the beginning of the bankruptcy proceedings. After a consultation Judge Thompson netified the Common Pleas Court of Allen County that if the demand was made more specific the records would be produced in the care of a custodian. This was conreyed in a letter bearing a special delivery stamp. Despite this, however, Beiser was indicted for his failure to show up, and this was followed up by his abduction.

Upon Judge Thompson's order telegram was sent to the Court of Allen County agreeing that the Deputy Sheriff need not show up for contempt if the indictment was nollied. Prosecutor Welty defiantly ignored this. He has likewise claimed that the special delivery letter was not received until two days after it was mailed here, although it requires only about five hours for its

Of course the expected happened when two hours after the trial began Jerome said: "The People rest." There had been no difficulty in proving that it was Harry Kendall Thaw who strode up to the table where Stanford White was sitting and shot him three times and killed him.

The defense admitting that, was however, curious about three things: How did Harry Thaw act? What did he say? Where was Stanford White's left hand at the time that he was shot?

All the witnesses save one have agreed that Thaw was pale and wildeyed.

Yet they all said that he did one thing extraordicary in its forethought for the safety of the great crowd on the theatre roof. He held his revolver alout and inrued muzzle down to signal that he was no madman america-that he had done all the hurt that was to be done for any-

> The defense bad eagerly scored on the record the things which Harry Thaw said to the men who selzed him, "I shot him because he rained my wife."

And more eagerly the remark that "I probably saved your life," said Thaw. "I probably saved your life."

What did Thaw mean by that, White had not offered to molest

But the importance of this remark lies in its indication of the illogical fashion in which Thaw's brain was porarily justino when he snot White.

The whoie argument is to be that Thaw had come to see in White an for the comfort of the countenance enemy in the most exaggerated guise -a creature lying in wait to take his life and the life of his wife-that Thaw experienced the same sense of terror on beholding White looking at him scornfully as if White had in reality a revolver leveled at his it will make him shrink and shudder breast or nimed at the slender, rein about terror, he wan him so far treating figure of Evelyn Nesbit

> No answer came to the third ques tion, where was White's left hand.

All remembered perfectly that he sat with his right hand and elbow supporting his head. None could tell about the left hand.

Was it thrust into the left pocket of his dinner coat.

Would there be evidence forth coming that White was ambidex trous and that even as a shockingly grotesque ring was taken from his dead hand that this hand was also clutching a revolver? There is a persistent rumor that some such evidence exists.

However, it is not in evidence

But the prosecution had shown an apparently deliberate killing-one man walking some thirty to forty feet across a room and shooting another dead as he sat.

And for any cane man to do that no matter what the provocation -is, according to the law of the State of New York, runder pure and simple.

Is Strong.

So the defense was to no position as in the case of murders that are mystenions, to lav bash and say Prove your case.

The case was there cold and clear The burden is on Thaw and his lawyers to show that his brain had missessed from childhood a degree of latent ingraity and that this brain had been called upon to bear a series of shocks-horror, anger. fear, grief and heart-break-ice great for a normal brain to have sucessfully horne, to say nothing of : brain predisposed to madness.

The jurous have been most selema ly compelled to swear that their verdict would not be colored by emo tion or sentiment, but if the verdict in the Thaw case is to be given according to the "unwritten law" this pleas of insanity is the only one elected Files the marritten law could be appealed to.

White's

Acts Known.

Under and other plea Thaw would have no chance of telling the jury what wrongs and sufferings Stanford White had caused him; the jury would not be allowed to find out what sort of a creature in his diversions was the genius of architecture. The law would refuse to allow the jury to take account of the kind of man Thaw had killed,

But if White's villianies drove Thaw insanc-that is a different matter. The story of White may then be told on behalf of Thaw, thousands of friends." Jerome began once when he seemed to realize that Evelyn Neshit Thaw, with her soft lips was viridly picturing a horribly enthless human being as the man who had fallen a victim to her husband's revolver.

Delmas To the Pore.

"I owe a duty to the living," cried Delmas, in swift recort, "I do not want to attack a dead man's memory, but if that man's acts drove this man out of his mind and make him, while insane, take human life, this man should not be purished, for it is then clearly the result of the evil deeds of the man himself."

Jerome, while seemingly bowing o the justice and well-taken legal ground of this position, neverthe again, in efforts to build flykes against a flood of testimony regarding White's career that he well knows is threatening;

If this flood ever fully breaks the In a summing up of facts in the general belief is that the proscention

Then Delmas drove home a masterful blow-a blow conceived with refused to marry him." s fine eye to counter theatal suggesion on the jury.

The twelve men had listened to Goes On. witness after witness tell how Thaw had waiked up to White, produced a glittering revolver and shot him to death.

Delmas.

Oliason had called Boman to the witness stand on the first day, but derome with this legal objection and ported to Thaw as her reason for that - and the little District Attorney | wanting never to see him any more is adialrably resourceful in such fight-tied Boman's lonague, and Gleason apparently did not know and designed to subject her to the how to direct the witness. But Delmas knew the way, and under his girls, Stanford, White and his friends examination Boman was allowed to had acciared to her, had met at tell freely what he knew.

Of Threats.

And Boman told of Stanford White coming to a theater to find his little victim, Evelyn Nesbit, gone and on being told that she had left the theater with Harry Thaw he had flown into a black rage, cursed Thaw and flourished a glittering revolver, and, with lips swollen with anger, threatened to kill Thaw before daylight.

Jerome backed at Boman tirelessly, but Boman did not fall to pieces. All Jerome showed against Boman was that he was poor and not always able to get work.

But there is no doubt that Boman was on dury as doorman of the theater the night he said he was and there is no doubt that a day interhe had taken into his confidence a detective sergeant of that city police force, and there was no doubt that he had since the truedy written two letters-one to Clifford Hartridge of Thaw's counsel, volunteering without price to tell his story, and another to Detective Sorgeant Herlihy to inform him of the action he had taken. Boman seemed altogether honest and worthy of belief.

So then Delmas placed in the jury's mind a picture to hang beside the one hing there by the prosecution.

One picture chowed Harry Thaw shootive White to death.

The other showed Statuo a White. revolver in hand "gunnlag" for Harry Thaw. Of equal importance, ioo, was the inflamed his brain to madness. Thus the experts came to have their day prematurely. Dr. Wagner of Cornell University and superintendent of a big asylum. and Dr. Evans, superintendent of an equally big asylum in New Jersey, of national fame as alienists, harn sworn that Thaw was probably butfering from a mental explosion that rendered him irresponsible when he killed White.

Jerome has tried again and again to trap them into saying that They is insane now. It is evident that Jerome would velcome as a way out of the case the proof that Thaw le insane now and should be sent to an asylum instead of being tried for his life. He would call promptly for an insanity commission the instant such an admission was made.

But this on Thaw's part is as intich of a fight to keep out of an in an asylum as it is for his life.

He views a cell in a madhouse with a horror equal to that of a cell in the death house at Sing Sing.

His experts have declared that while when they first examined him turmoil or explosion in his brain, and that as time wore on his mind and body had shown a steady emancipation from mental fills.

In proof of Thaw's queer mental state preceding the tragedy is the will of Thaw offered by up lawyers. He himself had written stronge passages in it, and he himself had devised and written in it a codieli providing for the support of girls who, like his wife, had met, he believed, barbarous treatment at the hands of Stanford White, Among other things, the decense believes this will should so a long way toward proving to the jury that White as the puspeakable enemy of all childbood and girlhood bad entered Thaw's brain as a torturing abcession.

Jerome fought to keep this will ont, and for two days he fought against the alienists, being allowed to tell just what Thaw had said tothem when they made their examinations, until Evans, the expert, asserred that he could not intelligently convey to the jury how he had formed his impression of Thaw's mental condition unless he were allowed to tell what the young man had said to hlm.

Under this statement and the persistent pleas of Delmas both The Court and Jerome saw these courersations in a new light.

The Court ordered them admitted in evidence. And Jorome has practically admitted that he can be forced to allow the queer will to go hafore the part.

EMPLOYERS BENEFITTED THROUGH THE EFFORT TO ERADICATE CONSUMPTION

A determined effort is being made in Providence, R. I., to stamp out tuberculosis, particularly among the mill hands and factory conployes. The Brown & Sharp Mig. Co., which employs upwards of 4,000 men, is actively co-operating in this movement.

The first step was to post a notice in the works, explaining the nature of the disease, the great danger of neglecting the early symptoms, and advising the most effective treatment. A physician, who has made a specialty of tubercular disease was provided, free of expense to the employe, to examan, and advise upo upon each case.

Some employes took advantage of the privilege on their own account, others were given the benefit of suggestion and willingly followed the well meant advice, while will others had to be induced

A number of cases were discovered among the men. Some were sent to the Scate Sanatorium for modern open air treatment. Others were urged to take up open-air work, and wherever possible the company found such work for them. No tunercular person was allowed to remain in the works, for his own sake as well as for that of his fellow workmen. Samitary precautions were taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Many of the men have already returned to work robust and generally in fine condition. Few, if any, large manufacturing establishments are free from consumption among the employes. It is a well known fact that pulmonary takergulosis is so insiduous in its workings that the victim seldom realizes the danger until the disease has taken a strong hold. It is among the apparently superficial colds and coughs that the incipient cases are found, and a suggestion from the employer is the one thing needed to stimulate the desire for treatment. Doubless the fature will see very strict regulations governing tuberculosis, and the progressive men who are doing this work of their own volitions are only anticipating what will probably be made compulsory.

Colds often lead to serious consequences, and should not be neglected. There is no more effective remedy for colds and coughs than the simple formula, prescribed by an authority on lung trouble, that calls for a half pint of Whiskey, two ounces of Glycerine and a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine (Purc). These ingredients cost little and can be purchased of any good prescription druggist and mixed at home. Mix well and use in teaspoontal doses every foud

HOPES BIG NAVY

People who are not without either optimism or imagination iffe to 'think in picture - to paint in fautastic shapes, the hopes, the fears, the apprehensions of life

Mankind has long been accustomed to construct "MEN-TAL SHIPS"-think of a cheristed plan or hope as, "When my step comes in!" The mark or woman of buoyar! temperament has "mental ships sailing in all seas-and some of them are "coming in" every icw days"

If the ships' are sailing according to the 'PURLIC-ITY CHARTS" a good meny more of them will "come in" on time and with BIGGUR CARGOUS

If most of your 'ships, have found their way to "Davy To ics. Locker on to the graveyard of the seas, you may begin the building of an entire NEW NAVY OF HOPE by becoming a close reader a student of the advertisements.

IN TODAY & ADVITISEMENTS so full of 'chances' 'opportanities' you may find some "ships' who, a whole cargoes are consigned to you, and other "ships" ready and waiting to set out on leng or short voyages freighted with your hopes and prospects
